

Contents

Acknowledgments	IX
Introduction	XI
CHAPTER ONE
Two Independent Catholic Liberals Diverged in a Wood: Eugene McCarthy and Pat Moynihan	1
CHAPTER TWO
The Way of Love: The American Distributism of Dorothy Day	35
CHAPTER THREE
Return from Bohemia: Grant Wood and the Promise of American Regionalism	51
CHAPTER FOUR
Wendell Berry on War and Peace: Or, Port William Versus the Empire	89
CHAPTER FIVE
A Working-Class Hero Is Something to Be: Carolyn Chute and Other Insubordinate Americans	111

CHAPTER SIX

Sanford 'n Seth: Or, What I Found While Hunting Civil War Artifacts in My Backyard	143
---	-----

CONCLUSION

Why I Am Not Ashamed to Be an American	171
Bibliographical Note	187
Index	197

